

Lakewood staff attend Homeland Security training

Several Lakewood Health System staff members recently attended training offered by the Center for Domestic Preparedness (CDP) in Anniston, Ala.

The CDP is operated by the United States Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and is the only federally-chartered Weapons of Mass Destruction (WMD) training facility in the nation.

The CDP develops and delivers advanced training for emergency response providers, emergency managers and other government officials from state, local and tribal governments. The CDP offers more than 40 training courses focusing on incident management, mass casualty response and emergency response to a catastrophic natural disaster or terrorist act.

Training at the CDP campus is federally funded at no cost to state, local and tribal emergency response professionals or their agency.

"The Center for Domestic Preparedness provides intensive training over a short period of time that is as close to real or life-like as we can get," said LHS Emergency Preparedness Coordinator and paramedic, Rod Opheim. "The staff who attended came back with a greater understanding of the Hospital Incident Command System (HICS) and how to effectively implement it in a mass casualty event. The exercise scenarios our staff participated in over the five day training period strengthened their confidence and ability to respond to a mass casualty incident, ensuring Lakewood's preparedness and ability to effectively manage any disaster that could happen within our community."

Resident training at the CDP includes healthcare and public health courses at the Noble Training Facility, the nation's only hospital dedicated to training healthcare professionals in disaster preparedness and response.

A number of resident training courses culminate at the CDP's Chemical, Ordinance, Biological and Radiological (COBRA) Training Facility. The COBRA Training Facility is the nation's only facility featuring civilian training exercises in a true toxic environment using chemical agents. The advanced hands-on training enables responders to effectively prevent, respond to and recover from real-world incidents involving acts of terrorism and other hazardous materials.

Who is God?

Paul Johnson, Associate Pastor, Staples Alliance Church

"The LORD your God, who is among you, is a great and awesome God."

-Deuteronomy 7:21

Romans 11:33-36

But we must pursue this question; for as we pursue a proper understanding of who God is, we grow in our love for Him, we grow in our faith in Him, and we grow in our reflection of Him. It is a pursuit which will take a lifetime, but one that will yield fruit beginning today and lasting throughout eternity.

I'll let A.W. Tozer have the last word.

When I think of the angels who veil their faces before the God who cannot lie, I wonder why every preacher in North America does not begin preaching about God - and nothing else. What would happen if every preacher just preached about the person and character of God for an entire year - what He is, His attributes, His perfection, His being, the kind of God He is and why we love Him and why we should trust Him? I tell you, God would soon fill the whole horizon, the entire world. Faith would spring up like grass by the watercourses. Then let man get up and preach the promises of God and the whole congregation would join in chorus: "We claim the promises; look who made them!"

-Quote taken from Tozer on Christian Leadership, May 25

Memorial Day speakers at Motley School

Poems were read, songs sung and speeches given during the Memorial Day service at Motley School May 30. Pictured above, from left, are Brandon Rubink, reciting, "In Flanders Fields;" Kayla Yoder, reciting, "I am Old Glory" and keynote speaker Command Sergeant Major Mike Worden. Worden currently serves as the Garrison Command Sergeant Major at Camp Ripley Training Center in Little Falls and is assigned to the Minnesota Army National Guard. He shared stories of military heroes, whose "stories are painful, but need to be told," Worden said. He noted that these heroes are ordinary citizens from all walks of life. "Memorial Day is about honoring those heroes who are here with us in spirit only." (Staples World photos by Dawn Timbs)

Five trap league shooters finish in state top 100

The Staples Motley High School Trap League concluded its regular season May 28 with the Cardinals completing a very competitive year. Over the five weeks of competition, the Cardinals finished second to Zimmerman in Class 4A Conference 4 with 26,672 points.

Awards are given for the top boys and girls in each conference, class and in the state. Individually Cardinal shooters finished with their best showing ever in league competition.

Boys

- Jace Hoemberg, senior, finished in first place in the conference, third place in Class 4A and tied for 25th place in the state with an average of 23.8 clays/round;

- Travis Maciej, junior, and Dominick Carlson, eighth grade, finished tied for second place in the conference, tied for fifth place in Class 4A and tied for 40th place in the state with an average of 23.6 clays/round;

- Brenden Thompson, junior, finished tied for seventh place in the conference, tied for 13th place in Class 4A and tied for 89th in the state with an average of 23.2 clays/round.

Girls

Katie Benson, junior, finished first place in the conference, Class 4A and state for girls and 11th place overall in the state with an average of 24.2 clays/round.

The Cardinals will send these five shooters to the MSHSL Championships in Prior Lake on June 25 as individuals.

“This is the first time the team has ever had any individual qualify in the top 100 shooters in the state. Sending five individuals is very impressive,” said coach Steve Benson. “Only St. Michael-Albertville had more individuals in the top 100 with eight.”

The team will compete in the State Championships June 17 in Alexandria. The top four team scores from Class 4A will also earn a spot in the MSHSL Team Championships.

The Cardinal shooters will have a good chance to advance this year, competing against the top Class 4A schools including Apple Valley, Detroit Lakes, Zimmerman and New York Mills.

“We have had an exceptional year of shooting. With over ten kids capable of shooting 22 clays or more every round, we should be able to get over the hump in team competition and shoot over 460/500 this year,” Benson said. “Hopefully, we can get five shooters to string together four good rounds and post a team score that will get us to the MSHSL Team Championships for the first time.”

The spring trap season is coming to an end, but youth summer and fall trap leagues are available for students in 6th-12th grade through Staples Community Education. If you are interested in getting your student to try trap shooting, look at Staples Community Education website or contact them at 218-894-2430.

Dash relay mayhem

Hunter Berggren hands the baton to Tyler Johnson for the final leg of the 4x100 relay at the sub section meet on May 26. The Cardinal relay team finished half a second out of first place but will advance to try and improve at the section meet on June 2. (Staples World photo by Mark Anderson)

Track athletes qualify for section meet

Five girls and ten boys from the Staples Motley track and field team will compete in the Section 6A meet on Thursday, June 2, at Minnesota State University Moorhead, after qualifying at the sub section 23 meet at Long Prairie on May 26.

The top five individuals and top two relays advance, plus those who meet time and distance criteria.

For the girls team, Millie Klefsaas won both hurdle events and the pole vault to advance. Megan Dumpprope qualified in the 800, Kiera Dumpprope in the 1,600, Kira Sweeney in both the 1,600 and 3,200, and Toni Brings in the discus.

For the boys, three relay teams qualified, the 4x100, 4x400 and 4x800. Individuals moving on are Zac Carlson in the 100, Isaiah Ross-Bahn in the 800 and high jump, Max Giza in both hurdle events and the pole vault, Ryan Trout in the pole vault and Noah Han in the triple jump.

Baseball team improves but falls in playoffs

The Staples Motley baseball team showed improvement throughout the year, but still didn't have enough to overcome the number one seed in the Section 6AA playoffs. The Cardinals lost 11-0 in the opening round of the playoffs against Melrose on May 26. They also lost their last regular season game 4-1 at Upsala-Swanville on May 24.

The Cardinals had played Melrose earlier in the season and knew it would be a tough game. “We played much better,” said coach Mitch Anderson. Walks and hit batters allowed Melrose to get an early lead, but the Cardinals held them down the rest of the way, giving up two runs in the last innings.

Trey Skesick started the game on the mound and Reid Busker came in to finish the first inning and did not allow an earned run the rest of the game.

Skesick and Mason Nyhus had the only hits for Staples Motley.

Against Swanville, Blake Gerard pitched five innings and Brady Smith finished the game.

Smith, Busker and Tristan Rudenick each got hits but they could have had more. “We were able to knock the ball around quite a bit but Upsala was very solid defensively,” said Anderson.

My 2016 bucket list; what's yours?

We have a white board – today's version of the chalk board – on a wall in a prominent spot in the office, where every week a new question is posed to anyone who cares to volunteer an answer. The question might be whimsical, such as “What was your most embarrassing nickname?” Or it might be philosophical, like “What would you do if you had one more hour every day?”

The latest question, posted just before the arrival of the long Memorial Day holiday weekend, was “What do you have on your summer 2016 bucket list?” “Bucket list,” of course, refers to the practice of creating a list of things you would like to do, or accomplish, before you “kick the bucket,” that being a less direct way of saying “before you die.”

The 2007 film Bucket List starred Jack Nicholson and Morgan Freeman as two terminally ill men pursuing long-imagined adventures before their expected passing, adventures that ranged from sky diving to mountain climbing. On a more down-to-earth, less morbid level, the idea need not be confined to lofty ambitions or end-of-life situations. It might mean looking ahead and thinking about goals or accomplishments that have personal value to you, and taking steps to achieve them before the opportunity slips away.

In the here and now, that posting on the office white board emphasized that the spring-to-fall outdoor season is a fleeting one. Before you know it, the opportunities it offers can slip away, and we can find ourselves looking back and wondering where the time and opportunities went.

This can easily happen when there are other lists in our lives that clamor for attention. For me, the most frequent competitor is the “to-do” list of tasks and obligations that would never make it on my bucket list. Not that life should be all fun and games, but spreading 82 bags of pine bark mulch on our gardens, scraping and repainting a garage door, or replacing a rotting window sill, are not things that lend themselves to eagerness. If you're not careful, such a list can become the only list, and the more rewarding enjoyments missed altogether.

One of the goals that was already in my plans for 2016 was to fish more both early and late in the open-water season, before the general fishing opener, and during the last days before fall freeze-up. Last year I made one trip in April to fish for migratory steelhead trout in the rivers of the North Shore, which stretch from Duluth to Grand Marais. This year I made a point to reserve time off work every week in April, and the first week of May. During that time I managed four trips instead of last year's one, and caught fish on three of the four trips. Chalk up one bucket list item for 2016.

Another 2016 goal is to return with my spouse to the site of family vacations we enjoyed when our now-grown children were young, to destinations in northern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. Dates have been set aside in June, reservations to board our Labrador have been made, and it looks like this 2016 bucket list entry will become a reality in the very near future. All it really took was thinking ahead and deciding it should be a priority.

Another item, one my wife and I hope to check off before late spring moves into full summer, is more riding on some of our exceptional bike trails, many of which are located within a half-day's drive of home. The bike chains and sprockets have been degreased and re-lubed, and we now have no excuses not to execute.

One of the challenges posed by my chocolate Labrador during fall duck hunts is getting 75 pounds of wet dog back into the boat at the end of a retrieve. If we hunted from land it would not be an issue, but I rarely do. Usually we are in bulrush or cattail islands where there is no terra firma. I finally broke down and bought a nifty hinged ladder that fastens to the transom or gunwale of the boat, which should make re-entry easier for both Bella and me. She being a dog that is leery of new ways of doing things, I'm going to make time long before duck season to accustom her to this new and improved way of getting her back into the boat. With May having passed into June, I'm already behind on this 2016 bucket list item. But the duck season doesn't begin 'til September, so there is still time to accomplish this goal.

Camping was something I routinely did during high school and college years, and even the early years of marriage. The love of camping isn't universal in my family (an understatement), but I want to get back to it again, even if it has to be solo. A simpler tent that doesn't require an engineering degree to erect is on the list for research and possible purchase.

Another approach to camping is also being considered, and may include a search for a small pull-behind trailer. Nothing fancy, maybe even an older model that needs some refurbishing and tender loving care. There is an entire subculture of trailer folk who call themselves “tin can tourists.” The advantage this offers is that it would make a good base from which to fish or do other activities without the always-present risk of bad weather making a soggy mess out of a camping outing.

Also on the 2016 list is to master the digital single-lens reflex (SLR) camera I purchased from my son almost two years ago, but have barely begun to take outdoor photos with. I'm a late adopter when it comes to new technologies, as attested to by the fact that I was the last in the family to give up my flip phone for a smartphone. I'm now finally abandoning film for digital photography. I've laid out thirty bucks for a book written especially for this camera model, and I'm going to master it, doggone it.

Your list of things to accomplish in 2016 can be mental, or it can be memorialized in a more formal way. However you do it, the process might help you make the commitment to do more of familiar favorite outdoor things, or try new things, which can otherwise too easily be put on a back burner and left to “maybe next year.”

Golfers play big school meets

While getting ready for the section golf meet on Monday, June 6, at Blackberry Ridge Golf Course in Sartell, the Staples Motley boys golf team played two meets against big schools, finishing 12th at the Brainerd Invitational at Cragun on May 25 and placing 10th at an invitational at The Preserve.

At Cragun, Andrew Israelson hit 12 of the 18 greens in regulation and finished in second place, on stroke off the lead. He was four shots from the lead in the next meet.

Morrison County law enforcement

Recent reports from the Morrison County Sheriff's Office (MCSO) included the following:

May 24 - The MCSO received a report of a swamp fire on 260th St., less than two miles west of Hwy 10 in Cushing. Randall Fire was paged and the DNR was contacted as well.

May 24 - The MCSO received a call from an employee at Orton's BP in Motley. Caller reported that while she was working someone stole her purse out of her car.

May 23 - The MCSO received a call regarding a property line dispute between two parties residing at the 1200 block of Lincoln Beach Rd. in Cushing.

May 21 - The MCSO issued a speeding citation to Lila May Ling Chu, 27. She had been traveling northbound on Hwy 10 and was stopped near Morrison Line Rd. in Motley.

May 17 - The MCSO received a call from a resident on 290th St. in Cushing stating that his neighbor has been shooting very frequently and uses a large amount of tannerite which shakes his house. Law enforcement spoke with the neighbor who admitted to the shooting and agreed to back off on the shooting as well as the tannerite.

May 13 - The MCSO responded to a welfare concern near the 26000 block of Hwy 10 in Cushing.
